

USDA-CSREES 2007 National Water Quality Conference

Conservation Pricing – Best Practices in Georgia

Water utilities in Georgia are employing conservation pricing strategies in Georgia as a way to reduce demand and free up supply for new users. This paper reviews pricing strategies and examples of how these strategies are working in Georgia systems where they are in use. The paper also reviews the elements of the cost of delivered water and a protocol for calculating the full cost of delivered water for Georgia utilities.

Author: Sam Collier

University Affiliation: Georgia Water Planning and Policy Center

Co-Author(s): Ben Thompson